DESCRIPTION

Upgrade your workstation with the EW1491 Dual Mechanical Spring Monitor Arm, engineered to deliver precision, flexibility, and enhanced productivity. Designed to support two monitors from 17" to 32", it's the ideal solution for multitasking environments where efficiency and comfort are essential.
The dual-arm design allows you to position both screens independently, maximizing desk space while creating a clean and ergonomic setup. With a full range of motion—including tilt, swivel, rotation, and height adjustment—you can easily achieve the perfect viewing angle for any task.
Equipped with a built-in mechanical spring mechanism, the arm ensures smooth, effortless adjustments and precise weight balancing for each monitor. Installation is fast and straightforward thanks to the keyhole-patterned VESA plate, while the included desk clamp and grommet options provide compatibility with a variety of desk types.
Constructed from durable steel and finished with a high-quality powder coating, the EW1491 offers long-lasting performance with a modern, professional look. Integrated cable management keeps your workspace organized, making it ideal for both office and home setups.
